Several Washington Members Honored With High Office-Complete Board of Directors Formed and Other Business Transacted-Three Şessions Held Yesterday.

The friends of temperance assembled in reat numbers last evening at the First nergeat onal Church to formulate plans warfare against their common enemy. It was the second public meeting under the auspices of the National Anti-Saloon League, and was presided over by the Rev. A. J. Kinett, of Pennsylvania. On the stage with the presiding officer ere Mrs. Margaret B. Flact, president of he District W. C. T. U.; Hon. S. E. Nicholton, of Indiana; Hon. Eftjah A. Morse, of Massachusetts, and Rev. C. H. Meade, secretary of the National Temperance Union, of New York, each of whom addressed the meeting.

Many of the plans suggested by the speakers, as to the lest methods to combat the liquor traffic, were new and to all apearances would be practicable.

During the evening the hymn, "Ninety by None," was very sweetly sung by Miss.

Grace Altschu.
The benediction was pronouced by Rev. Dr. Edward.

COMMON PLAIN FOOD.

It is Best for Children or Adults. Natural grains, meat, and fruit will ake good blood if the digestive machinery of the body is not interfered with.

The blood when first made goes into the arteries and is of a bright red color. After has been used some in supplying the ody, it is carried into the veins and is here a dark red or purple color. Blood contains the elements to noutish and baild up the body, such as iron, soda, lime, albumen, etc., etc. When the powers of the stomach and the bowels are reduced by lack of vitality or by putting coffee and tea into the stomach the processes which nature goes through with to change the food into rich, red blood are seriously interfered

It is like striking your friend a vicious blow when he is delving away for you with might and main. Don't do it. One feels more respect for himself when he acts the man and negative ne man and permits no form of abuse to strangle and spoil the beautiful work being done for him in the human body. No sort of fun on earth is equal to the fun of being thoroughly well.

An answer to these questions was re-fused, the bankers contending that what profits were made, if any, was a private matter, which could not concern the com-nittee and were not essential to the proper conduct of an investigation under the terms of the resolution.

Mr. Vest pressed for a response, but without success. He was compelled to con-tent himself with the statement that the natter would be reported to the full committee for action.

This was the particular question discassed by the committee yesterday. Since the decision in the Chapman case—the recalcitrant sagar investigation witness— some members of the subcomittee contend that they should again summon Mosses, Morgan and Belmont, and, upon their re-fosal to answer the questions, certify them to the District Attorney for action before of the agents collecting the rent. This was, however, as a matter of policy to have the resolution passed, omitted, Mr. Newton so stating on the floor. This resolution was assailed on all sides.

Dr. Purvis opposed the amendment in a brief speech.

Dr. Purvis opposed the amendment in a brief speech.

Mr. Janney also pointed out that the work proposed in the amendment was already distributed over a number of the committees of the board. Mr. Newton replying to several criticisms said that he would be willing to omit from the amendment the "names of the owners of the alely houses or those collecting rents therefrom." He railed to see what matter of more importance could be attended to by the board. It was time to devote less time to the northwest or northeast and give attention to the alleys.

Mr. Emmons said that he could furnish the committee with the locations of over four hundred houses in each of which there

LAID ON THE TABLE. Dr. Purvis said that as a matter of fact there was less scarlet fever and such diseases in the alleys than elsewhere in the city. He moved to lay the matter on the table, several members being on their feet.
The president put the vote and it resulted 34 ayes, 16 noes, so the resolution was tabled. Mr. Newton then wanted the names of who voted to be recorded by a year and nay vote.

Mr. Ross Perry said that that was an musunal proceeding but he did not think any one who voted against the resolution was afraid to have his name published. There was a great deal of opposition to the yea and nay vote. the yea and nay vote.

Major Harries read from Cushing's Manual to show that the yea and nay vote could only be had by the will of the najority. This knocked out the publication of the names of the opponents of the meas-

$10 for individuals and from $10 to $20 for corporations.
Industrial training in the public schools was then discussed, the subject being introduced by Gen Spear, the chairman of the committee on public schools.

Supt. Pawell, of the public schools, had been invited to address the board on the subject. He explained the philosophy of modern education as the correlation of the training of the hand and eye to that of the mind in all the grades.

He also detailed the grades in which particular manual work was done, the love and girls separating at the seventh ys and girls separating at the seventh grade, the boys going into the tool shop girls into the cooking school.

MANUAL TRAINING DEBATE Mr. Powell suggested that the childre might be taken two years earlier in kin dergarten training. This would save thou-sands who fall into police courts. We needed also a manual training high school. Major Harries elaborated the need of th manual training high school, for which $250,000 was asked for a building for white and colored children. The board of of trustees proposed to urge this apropriation, and it needed to be done by the present Congress. These schools were intended. ent Congress. These schools were infend-ed to supply a place for pupils who leave school about the seventh or eighth grade. Gen. Spear moved the adoptions of reso-lations expressing the desire and pledge of the board in getting the appropriations for the manual training high schools, sino indusing the estimate submitted by the the Commissioners, also thanking Prof. Powell and Major Harries for their ad-dresses. Mr. Emmons favored a system by which the Iraining schools would not be, as he believed some were, nore play houses. He would suggest asking the co-operation of lator body in this city. He had experience and knew what he was talking about.

Mr. Emmons then modified his resolution to as to read that the committee on public schools invite a conference with organized labor.

Mr. Manning opposed it because, he said, organized labor was opposed to manual training except as to a few apprentices.

Dr. Purvis said that the board was in Dr. Purvis said that the board was in-viting a quarrel. Organized labor might be expected to oppose a scheme that would invite opposition at the very threshold. Judge Maloy thought it would be the height of folly to invite such assistance. The sole object of labor organizations was to secure the highest rate of pay with the shortest hours for labor, and it was not anxious to increase competition, as contemplated by the processed recovery not anxious to increase competition, his contemplated by the proposed manual training schools. Gen. Spear thought that such co-operation would embarrass the public school committee, and he would therefore oppose the introduction of any such conference.

Mr. Emmons' resolution was killed and buried by an overwhelming vote, and the board adjourned.

The Indian's First Parents.

The famous summer resort Mount Desert Island was the traditionary Garden of Eden of the northwestern Indians. Accord-Eden of the northwestern Indians. According to their story the first man was a youth with golden hair and eyes like the hazel berry. His Eve came to him from the clouds. She immediately proceeded to make herself disagreeable by cutting off to make herself disagreeathe by cutting off Adam's golden locks. These she began to weave into a cord. At this stage the Indian-god of evil appears and binds her with the cord she has made. She stops growing, but not working. From a tall green stalk she gathered yellow seed, cut of which she made bread. After these first people had taught their children how to raise and use the grain they were trans-lated to the constellation stars known as the Sickle, whence they still watch over their earthly home.

Seneca's Medal.

In the possession of the Red Jacket Club of Canandaigua is a medal which, the members of the club believe, was given to the famous Seneca chief by George Washing ton. Other folks have frequently ques-tioned the authenticity of this relic, much to the indignation of the Canandaiguans, who assert that its claims to respect are beyond doubt. Medals almost exact dupli-cates of Red Jacket's, they admit, were presented to other Indians of note about the time when Red Jacket received his, but the time when Red Jacket received his, but this one is distinguished from all the rest because on its reverse there are four tenstars instead of fifteen, and it remained in the hands of a single family from the time of the chief's death until it became the property of its present owners.

Mine on Mount Sinal.

Recent examination of the copper min on Mount Sinai reveals that the ore is poor on Moint Smar reveals that the ore is poor and difficult to work, which accounts for the fact that they were abandoned 2,000 years ago, though in the days when copper was the only available substitute for wood and stone these mans were the cause of frequent wars. An interesting point ught to light is that the ancients praticed precisely the methods of extraction used at the present day—namely, reduction with charcoal combined with silicious an calcareous fluxes—Chicago Chronicle.
